(B) This celebrates the birth centenary of Kiwi artist Colin McCahon and is the second time his paintings have been featured on stamps, the first being released May 1997.

(C) According to Maori narratives, Kupe the Navigator was the first Polynesian to discover New Zealand in the 10th Century. Kupe and his ocean-going Canoe has previously been pictured on an 80c stamp from the Discoverers Millennium series of February 1997.

(D) The first Rock Formations stamps were released June 1991 as part of the Scenic Natural Wonder Landmarks series.

(E) Tuia Encounters 250 is a National Celebration from the Ministry for Culture and Heritage: in 2019 New Zealand is marking 250 years since the first meetings between Maori and Europeans during James Cook's and the Endeavour 1769 voyage to New Zealand.

Two New Discoveries – Booklet and Plate Block

After the three new booklet discoveries from the January 2019 CP Newsletter, we thought that might be it for awhile. But no, along comes yet another one! This is part of the W37 group: 1991 $4.50 red cover booklets, containing panes of ten 45c Rock Wren, perfed PC16a, and with imperf sides PC16a(z).

As usual for booklets of this period they come in two formats, with and without hanging slots. Booklets without hanging slots are covered by W37b.

Hangsell booklets are:

W37a print I 45c Rock Wren stamps with imperf sides

W37a(z) print I 45c Rock Wren stamps perfed all round

W37c print II 45c Rock Wren stamps perfed all round

And to this list we now must add:

W37c(z) print II 45c Rock Wren stamps with imperf sides

Most interesting how these new NZ booklets specialized listings are suddenly coming to light.

T37b 1965 4d Fantail Plate Block

Now this is a fascinating specialist item!

Harrisons printed this stamp in four colour photogravure, yellow, brown, green and black. But by mistake they did not add a green 1A plate number to the plate block. Thus all T37b plate blocks of eight are listed in the CP Catalogue as: 1A1A1A. Or so we thought!

Offered here is a T37b plate block with only ONE 1A plate-number. The brown remains, yellow and black have disappeared.

There are two possible hypotheses for this situation:

1) Harrisons started printing this stamp with, for some reason, only one plate-number: 1A brown. This was soon spotted, the print-run halted, and 1A yellow and 1A black hurriedly added and printing resumed. However in their rush to recommence printing they missed the fourth 1A green plate-number completely. So this 1A brown only plate block is from a very early print.

2) Harrisons had always had problems with the plate-numbers on this print-job, reasons unknown. The green 1A got damaged very early on and did not print at all. Yellow 1A and black 1A lasted a good long time but eventually (towards the very end of the job) they too became damaged, leaving only the solitary brown 1A.

Quite Remarkable. Offered this month as lot 275(i)

New Issue Notes

Predator Free 2050 (1 August 2018)

Making New Zealand predator free by the year 2050 is the ambitious goal of three organisations working together: Predator Free New Zealand Trust (PFNZ), Predator Free 2050 Ltd and the Department of Conservation. By ridding the country of key mammalian predators, such as rats, stoats, possums and feral cats, etc, the aim is to facilitate the re-emergence of native wildlife, examples of which are illustrated on the stamps.

This is a worthy cause as I was shocked to read that New Zealand has the highest percentage of threatened animal species in the world. Indeed over 80% of our native birds are at risk, and many of our native lizards and insects are endangered or even have become extinct.

The five stamps have each been given a title, not actually mentioned on the stamp, and artist Stephen Fuller illustrates a range of native wildlife appropriate to each locale.

- $1.20 Tuneful backyards: three native birds, Tui, Stitchbird and Saddleback
- $1.20 Thriving wetland cycleways: White Heron, Blue Ducks, Hochstetter's Frogs and Kingfishers
- $2.40 Picnic in the park: Wood Pigeon, Jewelled Gecko, Tuatara, Weka, and what was supposed to be a New Zealand Red Admiral Butterfly or kahukura. Due to a design error a wrong species, a "foreign" Red Admiral Butterfly (Vanessa atalanta) was illustrated by mistake. Kiwi lepidopterists were up in arms!
- $3.00 Urban oasis: four more birds species, Whitehead, Tomtit, North Island Robin and Forbes' Parakeet
- $3.60 Nocturnal wonderland: Morepork, Giant Powelliphanta Snails, Kiwi and Giant Weta

As well as the normal miniature sheet, a Limited Edition metallic PMS silver high-gloss litho varnish miniature sheet also exists.

Designed by Stephen Fuller, Wellington and printed by Southern Colour Print Ltd, Dunedin by offset lithography in the four process colours, perf 14½x14, on Tullis Russell 104gsm red-phosphor gummed stamp-paper, in sheets of 25 and a five-stamp miniature sheet

New Zealand Women's Suffrage 125 Years – Whakatu Wahine (5 September 2018)

In 1893 New Zealand became the first self-governing country in the world in which all women over the age of 21 had the right to vote in parliamentary elections. Most other democracies, including Great Britain and the United States, did not follow suit until after 1918.

The issue takes the form of an attractive setenant pair of embossed stamps (and ubiquitous miniature sheet), featuring Kate Sheppard and a White Camellia, the emblem of Women's Suffrage. The miniature sheet is inscribed: "Do not think your single vote does not matter much. The rain that refreshes the parched ground is made up of single drops."

Designed by Helcia Berryman, Grange Park Design, Paraparaumu and printed by Southern Colour Print Ltd, Dunedin, by offset lithography, in the four process colours plus gloss fern and embossing, perf 15, on Tullis Russell 104gsm red-phosphor gummed stamp-paper, in sheets of 24, comprising 12 setenant pairs, and a two-stamp miniature sheet.

"Plastic Bags!"

The current cri de coeur across the nation regarding single-use non-disposable plastic bags has reached New Zealand Post Philatelic, Whanganui. Previously stamps were supplied in thin plastic, which could not be recycled and was subsequently just thrown away. On a number of occasions we had strongly advised our New Issue Service clients not to long-term store their philatelic items in this plastic, as over time the plastic "sweated", and caused condition problems.

We are delighted to report that since the beginning of 2019, New Zealand Post have been despatching their wares in a new, thicker plastic, manufactured by "Kiwi Plastic Co Ltd", of Porirua, Wellington, and prominently on the bag it states : "This is an oxo-biodegradable bag."

Well done the team at Whanganui.
